The core of our work is promoting the health and wellbeing of horses. In order to promote horse wellness, care, and the value of grooming and mental health in the equestrian business, we have come together. Join the herd and get to know hundreds of enthusiastic horseback riders who are just starting out on their riding careers as well as many seasoned riders who have accumulated a wealth of knowledge over the years. Sharing knowledge is a compassionate act.

In July 2020, a private nonprofit organization called Alpha Fish Rescue was established. We get our fish from big-box pet stores, internet forums, and even classified advertising. We try our best to never purchase fish in order to spare them from an unhappy existence. We occasionally have to spend money on rehabbing our saved fish. However, we normally pay for these expenses out of contributions that we receive and do not charge the adoptive parents for them. Our goal is to treat and place the fish in our care in new homes, however occasionally the fish are too old or ill to do so, in which case they live out the rest of their days at our betta sanctuary.

Since 1930, TreeCom has served as Canada's premier tree service. The company's Canadian operations have developed further, adding to its success in the United States. TreeCom Canada has expanded upon the goal Ashley Young started so long ago, from giving financial support during the American Depression of the 1930s to buying multiple Canadian enterprises in the late 20th and 21st centuries.
